Dearest Doug

Your letter with Ethas ^{the} arrived arrived today. We have been washing and the wind is trying to blow up a storm. The house is clean and Neva is lying down. The baby is a darling but he has quite a cold which makes him restless at night and it keeps his mother awake.

We are getting along O.K. Glade works hard in school. or at least he says he studies at the library a couple of hrs. each night, he looks swell in his uniform, he quit the dairy to work for Leonard. and tries to help out all he can.

Dud is in a gang fight most every night and Errol manages to get a lick in once in a while. he is as husky as ever.

I'm glad Etha has work at last poor child. but I'm so sorry her sinners bothers her so. and that she is so tired out all the time. Your job sounds good to me and I hope every thing will turn out to be a success for you. I wish you all that is good, health first of all happiness and prosperity. I was glad glad for both your letters and have been going to write to you every day but because I didn't write is no sign I haven't been thinking and wondering about you. and ^{all the time} wishing you luck

Neva and the children said to tell you hello and thanks for the messages.

This is the way I scribble and the way I make letters sound interesting so you want want to hear from me very soon again. but we were glad to get your letter and hope you keep it up.

Love and best wishes from the Quinn Family. Mary L. Neva, Glade, Ned and Enol. I almost forgot the Keyser child Allen by name. We surely hope the future will be full of success and happiness. Now Your Friends always.
